

August 21st. and concludes on September 07, 2009

You Drink & Drive. You Lose.” impaired driving enforcement continues over Labor Day weekend

Over the upcoming Labor Day weekend, the Perry Township Police Department is continuing their commitment to the “You Drink & Drive. You Lose.” campaign by strictly enforcing impaired driving, crash-causing, and aggressive driving violations on this high-volume traffic weekend.

Officers will also be concentrating their efforts on all streets in the community by cracking down on Extreme Driving, including excessive speed, unsafe lane changes, and other types of reckless and dangerous driving.

“Officers’ are committed to making our roadways safe over the Labor Day holiday weekend by removing aggressive and impaired drivers from our roadways,” Chief Robert L. Oppenheimer said. “We urge the public to be committed to traffic safety by insisting that drivers and passengers buckle their safety belts, that drivers obey traffic laws and please don’t drink and drive.”

Motorists can help Officer’s keep roadways safe by obeying all traffic laws, buckling up, and not drinking and driving.